Chula Vista Parking Bandits

I went to Chula Vista last Thursday to see some of my subscribers for renewals, and parked Fred's Willis 77 just north of the parking meter block on Third Ave. When I walked to the Chamber of Commerce I noticed all those one-armed bandits which the city council had installed to bilk the motorists and make some "easy money". How some city dads fall for this racket! But if the District Attorney knows his business, somebody might be quartered in Bert Strand's hotel till the bail bondsman gets him out.

Just go and have a look at it. It's like a carnival. The two sides of the business street in Chula Vista is lousy with parking meters, close by, one next to the other. 277 of them. Imagine! 277 in a small city the size of Chula Vista. That is going some! And do you know what those dinkety dinks come to? $60. a piece. Somebody is crazy!

Now don't jump at conclusions. Don't blame the Mayor. He is against it. Even the new council is against it. But Chula Vista just had an election. And of the five councilmen only two belong to the crew that ganged up with the bandits against the people of Chula Vista.

The outgoing council had made a contract with the M. H. Rhodes, Inc., of Hartford, Connecticut, for the 277 Mark-time nickel-penny meters. From the looks of it the whole shebang, pipe stand and meter box, could not cost more than $10 wholesale, if as much. And the outgoing council contracted to pay $60 per installed meter. Since the money does not come out of property taxes, but was to come out of the "take" from the pockets of the customers of the merchants on Third Ave., the city council was quite profligate with the loot they contracted to hand over to the Meter manufacturers. Ralph Keithley, now Mayor, persistently opposed it, but even the new council had to enact the parking meter ordinance or face a damage suit, after the old council had made the contract.

Experts state that such Nickel-penny meters sell between $16.50 to $30, installed. Since Chula Vista is paying $60, the question is who gets the gravy? And there is where the D. A. and the Grand Jury ought to look behind the woodpile and drag out the little Senegambiam lad, who got the difference. Did the council overpay $8,320 just for fun? Did the manufacturers keep it, or was there a cut-back? Or is it going to be, when the manufacturers get paid?

When a city council was such an easy mark, to contract to skin the motorists and embarass the merchant's customers, the manufacturers must have figured they got quite a bunch of country hicks to deal with who don't know beans, for they did not even install the meters they showed the council, the kind that sell time of 12 minutes per penny, 24 for 2c, 36 for 3c, 48 for 4c and an hour for 5c. They went hog wild and installed a much cheaper meter, one that has only two sales, 12 for 1c or 60 for 5c and nothing in between, which naturally forces practically everybody to fork over 5c to start with if they intend to do any kind of decent shopping. Out of that the meter people are to get 75% and the city 25% till the $60 per meter are paid.

But Chula Vista people are not quite such easy marks. They stormed the city council in mass and many simply refused to pay the penny or the nickle and defied the police. Some even wondered what were to happen if some drunk took a sledge hammer and playfully, during some dark night, tried out whether the sledge or the meters were tougher. Thereupon the city council instructed the Chief of Police, Frank Dupree, not to enforce the meter ordinance because the wrong type of meters had been installed.

The council wrote a nice letter to the bandit manufacturers asking whether they would, please, instal the more elaborate type of bandits to rob the people. The nickle-penny type is too raw. The people might play the more complicated kind, as the suckers do in San Diego and feel like big city hicks instead of small town rubes.

And now the Honorable Council is awaiting the pleasure of the bandit factory to see whether they will skin Chula Vistans two ways: nickle-penny; or whether the people prefer to be skinned five ways: 1-2-3-4-5 choices of losing their money for using the streets they built and paid for in their tax bills.

de ARYAN DEMANDS DEFAULT JUDGMENT

Since the City Manager of San Diego failed to supply the necessary data concerning Parking Meters expense and revenues to the City Attorney's office, de Aryan asked Superior Court Judge Chas. C. Haines for an order to give the Plaintiff judgment by default.

The court instructed the City Attorney to answer by Monday (today) or else every parking meter in the City of San Diego will be ordered removed from the sidewalks and the racket abated.

REPUBLIC ON TRIAL

D. C. Bar, A Bar to Justice

"A FURTHER I. Q. TEST"

By F. REGIS NOEL

"It's a pun!" the King added, in an angry tone, and everybody laughed.

"Let the jury consider their verdict," the King said, for about the twentieth time that day.

"No, no!" said the Queen. "Sentence first—verdict afterwards."

"Stuff and nonsense!" said Alice loudly. "The idea of having the sentence first!"

"Hold your tongue!" said the Queen, turning purple.

"I won't!" said Alice.

"Off with her head!" the Queen shouted at the top of her voice. Nobody moved.

"Who cares for you?" said Alice (She had grown to her full size by this time). "You're nothing but a pack of cards!"*

As one of those who signed the petition for the recent special meeting of the Bar Association, it behooves me to address you about the matter. The purpose of the meeting was clearly stated in the petition. In a letter accompanying the petition it was set forth that if there is any organization in the District of Columbia, indeed, in the Country, which should take notice of this matter, it is the Bar Association of the District of Columbia. The so-called "Sedition Trial" in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia has admittedly been the subject of nation-wide notice, which casts a shadow on judicial processes in our community and on the Bar of the District of Columbia. That there is something unusual about the trial is obvious. Lawyers from all parts of the Country have commented on the trial. Laymen, including members of the press, bank presidents and others have also made comments. One well-known retired business man, 82 years of age, who said that he served on juries in our Courts more than 40 times stated he never saw or heard of such a case. It was the purpose of those who signed the petition to call together the members of the Bar Association in an effort intelligently to find out from them just what they believe the circumstances are.

As you know, the Secretary and the Board of Directors declined to have this meeting assembled, but were over-ruled. The Board of Directors in a resolution, copies of which were sent to the signers of the petition stated that during the pendeney of the trial to hold it would be highly improper and prejudicial to the Court, the prosecution, the defendants and their respective counsel. This appears to have been a lecture by 8 or 10 members of the Board on legal ethics to 26 signers of the petition who are presumed to have given sound consideration to the question of whether or not what they were doing was ethical. It is conceded that if the trial were a normal one, noticing it by the Bar Association would be questionable. But when a trial engenders such widespread comment and the facts are so explosive, it cannot be said to be a normal trial.

Numerous efforts have been made by individuals, one official, and the press generally to find out what was in the minds of those who signed the petition for this meeting. It is understood that all declined to give their opinion prior to this meeting. In other words, the members who signed the petition were trying to find out just what is wrong, for the Bar Association as an organization to find out, too, and if the Association felt that it should make recommendations or take some action. The meeting was frustrated in the manner epitomized by Alice, "In Wonderland."

Since the meeting was, on its face, futile, perhaps it would not be out of order to review, in hurried fashion some of the possible causes for the so-called "Sedition Trial" difficulty.

Proper compensation for members of the Bar who do the disagreeable work opens up a large field of possible discussion. The Admissions and Grievance Committee has been generally unsatisfactory to the Bar. An effort has been made during the past 10 years to revive the system. The Court agreed to do so; it has wholly failed. In the present trial the Grievance Committee did not even take any notice until this petition for the meeting was filed. Membership on the Grievance Committee is valuable and if membership on it were rotated, as agreed by the Court, would constitute some compensation for some of the members of the Bar. There is talk among some of you of a voluntarily raised fund to compensate the attorneys participating in this so-called trial. Why should this fund be raised by members of the Bar? The salaries of the prosecutors and investigators and everyone connected with the trial, or any trial, are paid from public funds and why should not those who are so necessary in the defense that the Court asked them to act be compensated from some public fund? One member of the Bar suggested a device that has been found successful in the County of Maryland of which Bel Air is the Capitol. In that jurisdiction, during quite a number of years, it seems, forfeited bail bonds, which are really manna from heaven, are put into a fund from which Court appointees are compensated. Without the actual statistics, and upon casual inquiry only, I am informed that there are about $60,000 in bail bonds forfeited in this jurisdiction each year which go into the Federal treasury. It could easily be arranged, I am confident, that these forfeitures be put into a fund under control of the Court to be issued to those who defend indigent people. A study of the reports will show that the Courts in the District of Columbia, in toto, are conducted at a handsome profit to the Government.

Lawyer Fined $200 For Delay in Sedition Trial

WITNESS SAYS BUND PLANNED PUTSCH AFTER FARM STRIKE

WASHINGTON,—For assertedly prolonging a cross-examination beyond reasonable limits, Henry H. Klein, a defense attorney at the mass sedition trial, was fined $200 by Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher in District Court.

Mr. Klein, who earlier in the trial had been fined $200 for arguing with the court, was questioning Roy P. Arnold of Los Angeles, a prosecution witness, who had disclosed an alleged plan of the German -American Bund to seize control of the Government.

The defense lawyer was going over some anti-Semitic pamphlets which the witness had identified as propaganda on sale at the bund's Aryan bookstore in Los Angles. Mr. Klein studied the exhibits as he slowly interrogated M. Arnold.

The court several times told Mr. Klein to proceed.

Eicher Sends Jury Out

Finally Justice Eicher sent the jury out and announced:

"The court finds Mr. Klein guilty of a deliberate attempt to obstruct justice by delaying this cross-examination."

Fining the attorney $200 for contempt of court, Justice Eicher added that if the fine were not paid by the close of the trial, the court would consider such further punishment as might be necessary.

Fined $200 Again for 'Contempt'

Attorney HENRY H. KLEIN

Mr. Arnold quoted Hans Diebel, one of the 29 defendants, as saying a farmers' strike in the New York City area was to be the spark which would set off the bund's "putsch" to take over the Government.

Conversation in 1936

Diebel also said, according to Arnold, that the bundists had instructions from national headquarters in New York to "go under-ground" in case this country broke off diplomatic relations with Germany. This talk took place early in 1936, Arnold recalled.

The witness quoted Diebel as discussing plans to go to Germany to raise money for a powerful propaganda radio station, to be located in Mexico. Diebel also spoke, the witness said, of often receiving instructions from officers of German ships.

"He said," Arnold testifed, "that some of these instructions were so ultrasecret that no written reports were made on them."

Diebel has been identifed by the Prosecution as proprietor of the Aryan Bookstore in Los Angeles.

Arnold said he and Diebel worked together as optical technicians in a Los Angeles factory.

Illness Delays Trial

The trial was delayed an hour by the absence of Edward James Smythe, a defendant, who was reported ill in District jail. Smythe then appeared. At the request of his attorney, James J. Laughlin, Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher said he would have Smythe examined by the prison physician at the midday recess.

Arnold said he also knew the defendant Herman Max Schwinn, whom the Government has identified as West Coast Bund leader. The witness told the jury he had known Diebel since about 1935.

COST OVER A MILLION DOLLARS

WASHINGTON,—Federal court officials who handle the payment of court costs disclosed today for the first time that they now believe the sedition trial, including witness fees and the cost of the investigations and grand jury hearings that resulted in the bringing of the charges, will cost the government at least a million dollars, possibly more.

They revealed the prosecution has been authorizing them to pay from federal funds for trips to California and back for a half a dozen or so witnesses brought here from the Pacific coast when the trial started last April. These same persons have been brought at government expense to Washington many times in the last two years. These trips have cost upwards of $600 for each of the witnesses, they estimated.

ANNULLING THE BILL OF RIGHTS

WASHINGTON, —Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said that he planned to offer an amendment to the Wheeler radio bill to require federal licensing of news commentators with commercial sponsors.

Johnson said the amendment would also provide a "code of ethics" for commentators to follow in their handling of news. "Smearing" or other violations of the code would result in a revocation of the license, he added.

"Sedition Case May Run A Year, End In Mistrial"

Above Headline From N. Y. Post, New Deal Paper — 11th Week Sidelights

NOBLE ASKS SUBPOENA FOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, June 26 (Special)—Today began the 11th week of the famous (or infamous) sedition conspiracy trial, with less than six witnesses examined for the Federal prosecution and nearly 200 to follow.

At this rate of progress, Prosecutor O. John Rogge is reported to have told some of the Bolshevik reporters that the trial may TAKE ONE YEAR. "And result in a MISTRIAL," commented Victor Riesel, the little scribbler for the leftist N. Y. "Post"

RED PRESS DESERTS TRIAL

Riesel, who had been here for weeks reporting, became so bored by the snail's pace prosecution (or defense filibustering, he called it), that he wrote one hot piece for the N.Y. Post, as quoted at the head of this dispatch, and then hot-footed it to distance scenes. The "Post" has since "ducked" the trial.

Most of the other out-of-town pen-pushers also deserted their desks in the court room. The Bolshevik "PM" of New York, which devoted from one to six pages a day at the beginning, recently withdrew all its "sedition" correspondents, and now depends upon the "U. P"; and during the past four or five days has not carried even the dispatches of the "U. P."

Dr. Frank Kingdon Broadcasts

But some forces are still interested in hippodroming the trial. Twice each day— at 12:55 and 6:45 p.m.— over the local station "WINX" (thought to be owned by Russians) and by wire to station "WMCA", New York, Dr. Frank Kingdon, noted Englishman of New York and Newark, broadcasts a fair summary of the court room happenings.

Dr. Kingdon has been both minister and college professor since he migrated to America during World War 1, and was an outstanding war propagandist and interventionist prior to Pearl Harbor. He is the author of the recent New Deal book, "That Man in the White House".

He is thought to be tied up in some way with Birkhead's "Friends of Democracy" and with the "Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League" of New York, and therefore violently prejudiced against anyone his friends say are "seditionists".

The aforenamed organizations may be paying for the broadcasts. Nevertheless, to grant the devil his dues, it must be said that Kingdon gives a better and more unbiased report than any of the left-wing journalists. He is a man of attractive personality.

JURY GOES TO SLEEP

Riesel in his farewell report says the court record is becoming so vast and the prosecution's case is being so broken up by defense objections that the jury does not appear to be grasping the conspiracy (?) "tale" (!) being told by the Federal witnesses.

"Reporters," said Riesel, "have amused themselves during the dry streches by counting the number of sleeping jurors."

SOME DEFENDANTS ALSO SLEEP

Just as Wednesday's session (last week) was within a minute of closing, a middle-aged little woman of Norfolk, Va., arose in the court room, unrolled a small oil cloth, with somewhat illiterate lettering, and shouted "Here's something for you, Mr. Rogge."

One of the most intelligent of the defendants told me he was asleep at the time, but the shout, "Mr. Rogge," awakened him.

WOMAN JAILED FOR CONTENT

The poor woman was misinformed as to the procedure of Federal courts.. Her sign did not concern the sedition case, but she obviously thought Mr. Rogge was "the Government," and should handle a case where two men of Jewish-sounding names had robbed and degraded some relative of hers and were guilty of "TRESON" (her spelling).

After a hearing in Justice Eicher's office and then back in the court room, she could give no coherent excuse for her action, she was sent to jail 10 days for contempt, and ordered examined for her sanity.

DEFENDANTS IMPOVERISHED

"One obstacle in the way of a defense filibuster," said Riesel, is the rapid impoverishment of the defendants. "Only a few can spend a year in Washington without working." Some few of them do work—as waiters, painters, timekeepers, etc., until their identites are discovered.

Lawrence Dennis, the brilliant writer and ex-diplomat, is reported to have a modest fortune. Before the trial, he is understood to have offered a local attorney $10,000 to defend him. Now as his own attorney, and doing very well, he can save that wad. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis and their two very attractive little daughters have taken a home across the river in Virginia and commute to the trial.

"Big Joe McWilliams, whose slightly graying hair lends him a distinguished air, is another defendant who appears to have ample funds for new expensive suits and to pay his fighting Chicago attorney, Maximillian St. George.

Dr. Winrod's Loyal Following

Dr. Gerald B. Winrod. D. D., the well-known evangelist and editor of "The Defender", obtains funds from a loyal following all over the nation and has the largest battery of attorneys. He contributes $25 a day toward the expense of the court record.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, who was never forgiven for writing the factual book, "Roosevelt's Red Record", has a loyal following, but says she has tough going financially.

According to Riesel, "the others are virtually bankrupt. Jew-baiting Henry H. Klein of New York is fed regularly by his client," the 73-year-old but well-preserved Col. E. N. Sanctuary.

"Parker Sage, of Detroit 'Anti-Semitic' circles, has been pleading with other defendants to set up a home together to save money."

Riesel's concluding paragraph was as follows: "C. Leon de Aryan, who prints the anti-Jewish BROOM and William Kullgren, editor of the "Beacon Light" and "America Speaks," now are sending money regularly to many of the defendants."

DEFENDANTS ABSENT

More defendants were absent last week, by consent of the court and prosecutor, than ever before.

Dr. Gerald B. Winrod was on his second visit to the bedside of his dangerously ill father, feared near death. . . Peter Stahrenberg went to New York to attend the funeral of his mother. . . . Victor Broenstrup has been seriously ill in two government hospitals (he being a world war veteran) but returned to court today. . . . The mother of Wm. Dudley Pelley died yesterday.

Efforts of THE BROOM'S correspondent to cause disuse of the words, "the government", in refering to "the prosecution," have borne fruit. Even Prosecutor Rogge frequently refers to "the prosecution," now.

Brilliant defense lawyer James J. Laughlin made one of the most thrilling talks of the trial in arguing for dismissal of the case on account of the Hartzell Supreme Court decision. Because he attacked Roosevelt's war-mongering record, the judge ordered his remarks stricken.

Laughlin is attorney for Ernest F. Elmhurst in the latter's civil case against Koehne, Rogge and Burns for "endeavoring to sabotage his defense."

Mr. Laughlin has asked for the deposition of President Roosevelt regarding pre-Pearl Harbor matters, in behalf of Robert Noble.

1944 Firemen's Show

San Diego Firemen, in presenting their 5th Annual Circus and Fireworks Display in Balboa Stadium at 8 p. m., July 3 and 4, have completed plans to make the two-night celebration one of the greatest patriotic pageants to be staged in Southern California.

With the approval of the Army and Navy and the lifting of wartime regulations that prevented their shows in 1942 and 1943, Firemen state they were able to arrange for a grand show this year; and, due to the limited seating capacity of the stadium, have scheduled a two-night performance so that everyone desiring to witness such grand, safe, patriotic entertainment might have the opportunity of doing so.

A mammoth hour-long professional circus, of 4-ring caliber, with dozens of clowns, lots of trained animals, trapeze artists and aerialists, trupes of acrobats, and many other headline "big top" acts, is to be presented. A group of aerilists, working on a wire superstructure 125 feet in the air, will climax the circus performance .

Immediately after the circus finale a spectacular 70-minute fireworks display is to begin. Composed entirely of pyrotechnics manufactured before Pearl Harbor, the display will feature many patriotic themes as well as giant pin wheels, huge colored fountains, shooting stars, and fire falls stretching across the stadium. Giant rockets and roman candles will burst hundreds of feet in the air.. And pyrotechnic comic figures, designed especially for children, will move about the stadium turf.

A real circus band is to provide music and the stadium will be decorated with flags, bunting and circus paraphernalia, to create a genuine 4th of July atmosphere.

As the stadium seating capacity is limited, firemen urge that tickets be purchased early to avoid disappointment. They are now on sale at all fire stations.

The history of liberty is a history of the limitation of power, not the increase of it. When we resist, therefore, the concentration of power, we are resisting the processes of death, because concentration of power is what always precedes the destruction of human liberties.—Woodrow Wilson.

Voodoo Statistics

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

DURING my boyhood I knew one slave-time Negro, a picturesque character born 50 years, you might say, after his time. It was said of him that, with solemn ritual, he named one of his seldom-used pockets The World. Promptly then he had his wife sew up the empty pocket. After that, when a fellow worker asked him for a chew of tobacco he could say truthfully, "I ain't got a bit'a chewin' in The World."

This is not a pointless story. It describes an interesting philosophy, now in use, notably by the Office of Price Administration. When the powers of this bureau find it impossible to stabilize a price (as they sometimes do) they promptly sew up the outlet with a so-called "line limitation," shift the trade to another store with fancier prices and call it a deterioration of quality; not a price boost—never!

The Price of Nothing IT'S UNCANNY. People pay more for what they get although prices stay the same at all points of sale. Just consider the case of Mrs. Effie Stone, proprietress of Effie's Store Inc. Nobody has ever called Effie a modiste. She runs a sort of general store at the edge of a farming town and stocks some apparel, everyday wear for farm women. Woolen skirts at $4 and ladies' suits at $20 are for Effie's quality trade.

But now the store is out of woolen skirts entirely. Effie can buy them at about $4.50 wholesale, and could sell them for $6 and show a profit but it's not legal if OPA rules are law. The trouble is that Effie sold no skirts above $4 for several years, including the months that OPA has since designated as a "base period." By doing this she fixed her own ceiling price. Rule No. 330 caught her.

Business Migrates NOBODY is fooled. Effie's highest allowable price for skirts is $4 and she can't get any more $4 skirts to sell. Her customers would pay more, in fact they are paying more. They still like the kind of clothes they wore during the famous "base period." But they are buying elsewhere, paying $8.50 for skirts in shops just opening; that have no "base period," or in big stores with higher "ceilings" upheld by more costly lines.

The sport skirts Effie used to sell at $4, the very same brand, can be sold legally by Ye Smart Shoppe at higher prices than they'd dare name if Effie was still a competitor. But Effie is out. She has lost her skirt business and her suit line is just ready to die the same death. She is not alone either. She has shopped around a bit and found dealers in other lines tangled up in the same red tape.

Choking competition does not help Mr. and Mrs. Consumer. Effie's prices have not advanced, neither are her competitors' prices higher, but the cost of living climbs just the same. Price Administrator Bowles has called quality deterioration a national scandal, and I believe he has something there — but there are indications that the fault may be with regulations which we are glad to believe OPA is taking steps to correct.

ON FOREIGN SOIL

EVANSTON, Ill.,— May one of the common people arise to inform the smirking Sen. Hatch that Mr. Roosevelt did not assure the mothers and fathers of America that their sons would not be sent to fight "in foreign wars"! His promise was that they would not be sent to fight on "foreign soil". Laugh that off.

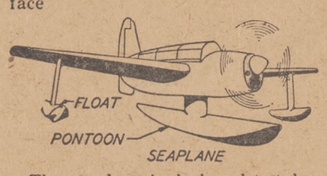
PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burnstan

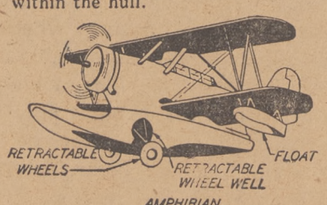
"Heavier-than-Air" aircraft are classified under three main groups: landplane, seaplane, and amphibian.

We are all familiar with landplanes because we see them in flight every day. They are designed and equipped with wheels or skis to take-off from and land on the ground or any other hard surface



The seaplane is designed to take-off and land on water. Water take-off and landing is made on one or a pair of pontoons located beneath the fuselage. A seaplane with a single pontoon requires a float located near each wing tip for balance while on the water.

The "Flying Boat," as its name implies, is a boat built to aircraft specifications with wings. Crew and passenger quarters are located within the hull.



The amphibian plane is a flying boat or seaplane able to arise and alight on water and land. It is equipped with wheels which retract into its hull or pontoons during flight or while on the water.

Good THOUGHT

Good WORD — Good DEED

Letter of Pontius Pilate to Caesar

A type of a man unknown to our numerous painters who have given form and figure to all the gods and heroes. There was nothing in him that was repelling in its character, yet I felt awed and tremulous to approach him. "Jesus," said I to him at last, and my tongue faltered, "Jesus of Nazareth, I have granted to you for the last three years ample freedom of speech, nor do I repent it. Your words are those of a sage. I know not whether you have heard Socrates or Plato, but this I know, there is in your discourse a magnetic simplicity that elevates you far above those philosophers. The Emperor is imformed of it and I, his humble representative in this province, am glad of having allowed you that liberty of which you are so worthy. However I must not conceal from you that your discourses have raised up against you powerful and inveterate enemies. Neither is this surprising. Socrates had his enemies and he fell victim to them. Yours are doubly incensed against you because of your discourses being so severe against their conduct, and against me on account of the liberty I have aforded you. They even accuse me of being indirectly leagued with you for the purpose of depriving the Hebrews of the little civil power which Rome has left them. My request, I do not say order, is that you be more circumspect and moderate in your discourses lest you arouse the pride of your enemies and they raise against you the stupid populace and compel me to employ the instruments of law."

The Nazerene calmly replied: "Prince of the earth, your words proceed not from true wisdom; say to the torrent to stop in the midst of the mountain gorge or it will uproot the trees of the valley; the torrent will answer you that it obeys the laws of nature and the Creator. God alone knows whither flows the waters of the torrent. Verily I say unto you, before the rose of Sharon blossoms the blood of the just shall be spilt."

"Your blood shall not be spilt," said I with deep emotion, "you are more precious in my estimation because of your wisdom than all the turbulent and proud Pharisees who abuse the freedom granted them by the Romans. They conspire against Ceasar and convert his bounty into fear, impressing the unlearned that Ceasar is a tyrant and seeks their ruin. Insolent wretches, they are not aware that the wolf of the Tiber sometimes clothes himself with the skin of a sheep to accomplish his ends. I will protect you against them. My pretorium shall be an asylum sacred both by day and night."

Jesus carelessly shook his head with a grave and divine smile and said, "When the day shall have come there will be no asylums for the Son of man." Pointing to the heavens, "That which is written in the books of the prophets must be accomplished."

"Young man," answered I mildly, "you oblige me to convert my request into an order. The safety of the province which has been confined to my care requires it. You must observe my orders; you know the consequences. May happiness attend you. Farewell."

"Prince of the earth," replied Jesls, "I came not to bring war into the world, but peace, love and charity. I was born on the same day on which Augustus Ceasar gave peace to the Roman world. Persecutions proceed not from me; I expect it from others and will meet it in obedience to the will of my Father who has shown me the way. Restrain, therefore, your worldly prudence; it is not in your power to arrest the victim at the foot of the tabernacle of expiation."

So saying he disappeared like a bright shadow behind the curtains of the Basalic, to my great relief, for I felt a heavy burden on me from which I could not extricate myself in his presence. To Herod, who then reigned in Galilee, the enemies of Jesus then addressed themselves to work their vengeance on the Nazarene. Had Herod consulted his own inclinations he would have had Jesus immediately put to death; but though proud of his regal dignity he yet was afraid of committing an act that might diminish his influence with the Senate; or like me, was afraid of Jesus himself. But it would never do for a Roman officer to be scared by a Jew.

Previous to this Herod called on me at the Pretorium, and on rising to take leave after some insignificant conversation, ask me what was my opinion concerning the Nazerene? I replied that Jesus appeared to me to be one of those great philosophers that great nations sometimes produce. That his doctrines are by no means sacrilegious; and that the intentions of Rome were to leave him that freedom of speech which was justified by his actions. Herod smiled maliciously, and saluting me with an ironical respect, departed.

The great feast of the Jews was approaching and the intention was to avail themselves of the populace's exultation for the populace always manifests itself at the solemnities of a passover. The city was overflowing with a tumultuous populace, clamoring for the death of the Nazarene. My enemies informed me that the treasures of the Temple had been employed in bribing the people. The danger was pressing. A Roman centurion had been insulted. I wrote to the prefect of Syria for a hundred foot soldiers and as many cavalry. He declined. I saw myself alone with a handful of veterans in the midst of a rebellious city too weak to supress a disorder and having no other choice left but to tolerate it.

They seized upon Jesus; and the seditious rabble, although they had nothing to fear from the Pretorium, believing, as their leader had told them, I winked at this sedition, continued vociferating "Crucify him! Crucify him!" Three powerful parties had at that time combined together against Jesus. First the Herodians and Sadducees, whose seditious conduct seemed to have proceeded from double motives. They hated the Nazarene and were in fear of the Roman yoke. They could never forgive me for having entered the Holy City with banners that bear the image of the Roman Emperor and, although in this instance I had committed a fatal mistake, yet the sacrilege did not appear less heinous in their eyes.

Another grieveance also rankled in their bosoms. I had proposed to employ a part of the treasures of the temple in erecting edifices for public utility. My proposal was scorned. The Pharisees were the avowed enemies of Jesus. They care not for the government. They bore with bitterness the severe reprimands, which the Nazarene for three years, had continually been throwing out against them wherever he went. Too weak and pusillanimous to act by themselves, they had embraced the quarrels of the Herodians and the Sadducees.

Besides these three parties I had to contend against the reckless and profligate populace always ready to join the sedition and to profit by the disorder and confusions that resulted therefrom.

Jesus was dragged before the High Priest, Caiaphas performed a devisory act of submission. He sent the prisoner to me to pronounce his condemnation and secure his execution. I answered him, that as Jesus was a Galilean the affair came under Herod's jurisdiction and ordered him to be sent thither. The witty Tetrarch professed humility and protesting his deference to the lieutenant of Cesar, he committed the fate of the man in my hands. Soon my palace assumed the aspect of a desieged citadel. Every moment increased the number of seditionists. Jerusalem was inundated with crowds from the mountains of Nazareth. All Judea appeared to be pouring into the devoted city. I had a wife from among the Gauls who pretended to see into futurity. Weeping and throwing herself at my feet, "Beware," said she, "Beware and touch not the man, for he is holy. Last night I saw him in a vision; he was walking on the water; he was flying on the wings of the wind; he spoke to the tempest and to the fishes of the lake; all were obedient to him. Behold the torrent of Mt. Kedron flows with blood. The statutes of Caesar are filled with gemonide. The Columns of the Interium have given away, and the sun is veiled with mourning like a vestal in the tomb. Ah, Pilate, evil awaits thee if thou wilt not listen to the vows of thy wife. Dread the curse of the Roman Senate. Dread the frown of Caesar." (To Be Continued)

IDOLATORY vs. RELIGION

The greatest obstacle to Religion is the undisciplined, imaginative Mind. For this reason the first commandment of the Decalogue states the Singleness of God: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord". And adds: "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might". —Deut. 6:4,5.

The second commandment of the Decalogue, then, warns: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath . . . thou shalt not bow thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me: and shewing mercy to thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments."—Ex. 20: 4-6.

Recently I acquired a very dear friend, and naturally, the moment I make a friend I want it for keeps. Lasting relationship is based in Love of Principle, worship and service of God. All disagreements come from loving and serving different gods and aims. None can serve two masters. Therefore when I accept someone into my heart as a friend, to really bestow my love and trust on them, I get busy to clarify our aims. We must love the same God, have only one aim, to serve our Lord.

My friend immediately informed me that when thinking of God, she thinks of the Bible. That any word I say against the Bible is offensive to her religion.

Here, then, we have idolatry. The Bible takes the place of God. Who is greater? God or the Bible? The moment the Mind drops into a rut and does not find God, but merely follows routine, dogmas, rituals, ideas as set forth in phrases in the Bible, that Mind is lost. There can be no substitute for God. The scriptures do not have Life. God is the living God and we are His living children. Thus to find the Father we must find Him in ourselves, in our LOVE of God. And only the pure in heart, the simple minded, whose mind is not on books and phrases, but on God Himself, on the living God in our heart, see God.

This is the pearl without price, to love God, to serve God, to find God and not accept a substitute.

Today the insanity prevails that the "war effort" ranks God, that we must even tell God to work for the War and help us kill Germans and Japs.

This is idolatry with a vengeance. Neither FDR in the U. S. A., nor Hitler in Germany, ranks God. The peace efforts, not the war efforts, are the measure of our Love of and Devotion to the Lord's service.

This idolatry of War above God, has already determined the Third World War. Every Victory on the battlefield sows the seeds for another bout.

The War of Independence settled nothing. The U. S. A. has done more today to strenghten British rule than the whole British empire did.

When Hitler resorted to violence to take Germany away from the Jews, who owned it politically and financially, he merely wrote his and Germany's doom. Nothing good comes from violence but more violence.

Those who love the Lord more than their own lives and refuse to resort to violence, they shall inherit the earth. All others are going to kill themselves off.

KOSHERITES vs. JESUS

Dear Sir:

As a fellow vegetarian I have read of your plight in the magazine 'How To Live'. I have an idea why you were jailed but to obtain the true story I'd like your answer.

Sincerely, — — — WISCONSIN.

Dear Friend:

I was quite surprised to get your inquiry. But in the afternoon mail I received the MAY issue of HOW TO LIVE, edited by G. R. Clements, of Sebring, Fla., and on page 12 I found his article on SMOKING copied from THE BROOM, which explained your letter and inquiry. Clements realizes the value of rythmic breathing and since it is the POWER that costs nothing and keeps me free, naturally, I keep on giving it credit and he is wise enough to point to it. All I am doing is repeating, in practice, what is contained in HEALTH & BREATH, by the MAZDAZNAN Press, 1159 So. Norton Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

The underlaying story is clearly stated by Attorney Henry H. Klein, in his speech to the "sedition Jury" in Washington, D. C., of which I am enclosing a copy for your perusal. This is the EXOTERIC reason. But since you are a vegetarian, I shall give you the ESOTERIC reason, which is the real and potent force in action and you can easily see the results.

There is no worse criminal human beast than one that will slice an animal's throat and let it bleed to death, consciously seeing its blood flowing out of its throat till it dies. This complete lack of compassion and sentiment feeling on the part of the butcher is the utmost in criminal callousness. Those seconds that the animal yet lives, looking at the butcher who sliced its throat and at the blood as it flows on the ground and knowing what it all means is several eternities to the dying animal. And what the animal thinks and feels, reflects back into the lives of those who partake of his carcass. It is imprinted in that carcass as the last testament of the dying animal. This carcass becomes part and parcel of the bodies, brains and nerves of those Jews who as a RELIGIOUS ritual practice this beastly type of cruelty to animals. The cry of that animal reaches way up to the Throne of the Almighty as an accusation against his tormentors.

When Jesus denounced those butchers and introduced the BLOODLESS meal of communion, in place of the pascal lamb, and ordered his followers to partake of it ALWAYS in his memory, the Kosher Butchers Union created such a mob riot, that HE was finally crucified as a SEDITIONIST.

Every member of the House of Melchi-Zend-Ek, whenever he assumes his office and teaches and practices VEGETARIANISM as a religious ritual, exposing the criminal bestiality of the Kosherites, naturally, is placing them on the spot and henceforth it becomes a trial by ordeal.

I am still alive!

Sincerely, C. LEON de ARYAN.

HITLER'S BOOK WAS BUND TEXT

WASHINGTON,—Members of the German-American Bund on the Eastern seaboard attend a school where they were taught the principles of National Socialism as practiced in Germany, William Luedtke, former bund national secretary, testified at the mass sedition trial in District Court.

The textbooks, said the witness, were Hitler's "Mein Kampf" and a book by Alfred Rosenberg, Hitler's policy-maker.

Luedtke said he took a three-month course in New Jersey.

The teacher, who had studied in Germany, taught them that "the democratic system was old and decaying and eventually would fall by itself," he testified.

Told to Relay Institutions.

Officers of bund units who attended the school, Luedtke said, were instructed to relay what they had learned to the membership at meetings. How to spread Nazi propaganda was one of the lessons taught, the witness told the jury.

Luedtke said his teacher was Severin Wintercheidt, who had just been in Germany.

FEDERAL CITY

ABOLISH NATIONAL NOMINATING CONVENTIONS — —

By WASHINGTON ADAMS

WASHINGTON, June 25—Washington had been in his grave 33 years when the evil custom of holding national political nominating conventions began, (1832).

Six great presidents had appeared, none of whom had ever been nominated by a convention.

The five greatest were dead - - - Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe. Dead also were the great men who, with them, established the Constitution and "Bill of Rights" - - Hamilton, Franklin, Morris, Clymer, Wilson, Sherman, Mason, and others, totaling 41.

So - - - from this succeeding period of political poverty of thought - - came the idea of emasculating the electoral system, which had produced such able Presidents and needed only slight alterations to make it perfect.

In the last 112 years of political conventions, out of 25 Presidents chosen, less than five have been in a class with the first six, chosen and elected by the electoral system.

I ask my readers to study the proceedings of the current G. O. P. convention, which will have completed its work before this reaches the printed page; and to focus their eyes on the assemblage of political officeholders who, in the same hall, will endeavor to nominate F.D. Roosevelt as the permanent lifetime "ruler" of the United States.

Study these conventions and you will observe defects some of which are inherent in the system and are beyond correction.

In the first place the conventions are TOO LARGE - - over 2,000 delegates and alternates. No assemblage of that size has ever been a deliberative body.

Alexander Hamilton remarked this fact in his "Federalist Papers." He said, the larger the assembly the less sense it can have and show. Smaller bodies may be deliberative. Groups of more than 500 are a mob.

It is agreed that if the Federal Convention of 1787 had had 1,000 delegates, it could never have written a satisfactory constitution. Only thirty-nine persons wrote and signed that document, assisted by six who refused to sign.

Even the G. O. P. Platform Committee of around 100 is entirely too large - - one member from each state would have been a gracious plenty.

Prof. Robert Michels of the University of Basle, in his famous book, "Political Parties," describes the weak points of assemblies of 1,000 or more. They are only orderly "mobs" at best, and armies in disorder at their worst, incapable of deliberation, intolerant of oppositon speakers and hostile to unknowns who have great difficulty in making themselves heard above the tumult; that, if divided into groups of 100 or less, the mob spirit tends to disappear, the body is more willing to listen and speakers have more ease and courage in facing the smaller group. Results of value may be achieved.

In the big Chicago conventions the spectators numbered 25,000, almost dominate the place, and make calm deliberation utterly impossible.

Only a few States select their delegates by legalized elections or primaries. Even these are not truly representative. The delegates from perhaps 40 of the other States are selected at private caucuses or meetings of party workers who hold office or hope to.

The public knows little or nothing of these small political meetings and, as a rule, never know even the names and address of the delegates chosen. I asked twenty Washington storekeepers, government workers and landlords, and not one knew the name of a single delegate to the G. O.. P. convention. I then mentioned the names of several of the D. C. delegates and could find no one outside of a newspaper office who could indentify these names in any way.

In New York City (these are newspaper poll figures), fewer than one person in a hundred knows the name of his Congressman, and hardly one New Yorker in 1,000 (outside of political clubs) knows the name of his district delegate to the big convention.

Therefore, the "people" really have no "voice" and are not truly represented in the selection of delegates or of the President.

How much better was the "electoral" system, when duly elected State legislatures selected electors (who held no Federal office) and met in their State Capitols (to avoid oratorical flights at a mob-mass convention) and there on their own home territory voted for the man they thought would make the best President - -- not merely "make the best race".

In the Federal convention of 1789 there were no alternates. If a delegate became ill or didn't show up, his seat remained vacant.

The alternates (ten times as many as are needed) do no work, but clutter up and impede the work of the convention.

REMEMBER NOW THAT THESE CONVENTIONS, WHICH ACTUALLY NAME OUR PRESIDENT, ARE ILLEGAL OR NON-LEGAL, NON-CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS, GOVERNED BY NO STATE OR NATIONAL LAW !

They are run by some 48 "leaders" or State "fuehrers." The ordinary delegate is a party worker, or stooge, who is allowed to come along as "window dressing" and sometimes as a reward for faithful service. He rarely shows any independence; practically never speaks, and usually votes as his boss tells him.

He has his eye on some present or future political job, and his desperate desire is that a "winner" be picked - - - not the best man for President, but the man who will look best to the average low-brow.

He has little personal preference as to candidates; his ears are attuned to the sound of the "band wagon". He wants to support the winner.

If we are to have conventions, there should be no more than 100 delegates, composed of duly elected leaders of the party, such as Senators, Representatives and Governors - - or nominees for such positions.

Except for the "propaganda" speakers and the reading of the platform, the deliberations should be absolutely secret, with debates and secret ballots on every plank of the platform; also a secret ballot at all time for the nominees.

But, better yet, NO NOMINEES. Adopt a short platform of PRINCIPLES - - fight the battle of the campaign on the principles at stake, let one elector be selected by the legislature for each district and two at large from each State, these to meet later and THERE PICK THE PRESIDENT, who would be pledged to carry out the wishes of the electorate, and removable by a majority vote of Congress if he fails in his duty!

Thus we would get back a "government of LAWS and NOT OF MEN."

People would vote for PRINCIPLES and POLICIES - - not for the President. To vote for the President is to raise the issue of demagoguery, not of efficiency, honesty and patriotism.

Eicher Refuses Smythe Plea For Medical Aid

SEDITION DEFENDANT TOLD HE MUST ATTEND EVEN ON STRETCHER

Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher, presiding at the mass sedition trial in District Court, held that Edward James Smythe, a defendant, was malingering in claiming to be sick and had asked to be sent back to District jail and placed under medical care "with the purpose of obstructing the progress of this trial".

Smythe had written Justice Eicher, complaining of illness, and the judge, reading the letter aloud, said his opinion was based on a report from the jail physician.

The doctor, the court said, had found Smythe in perfect health and if the defendant suffered any discomfort it was muscular and the result of a violent game of handball. Smythe is 51.

Refusing the defendant's request to be excused for the afternoon, Justice Eicher said:

"The court is compelled, Mr. Smythe, to insist that you be here for every session and will instruct the marshal, if necessary, to bring you in on a stretcher."

Complains About Exercise

Justice Eicher said he had received many letters from Smythe complaining of various things, most recently that his "jailers did not allow him sufficient exercise". The jurist said this had been investigated carefully and the court was convinced there was no truth in the charge.

Smythe was an hour late for the trial yesterday and the case was recessed until he was brought in by deputy marshals.

In another portion of the letter to Justice Eicher, Smythe asked to be relieved of his attorney, James J. Laughlin, who also represents another defendant, Robert Noble. Mr. Laughlin, Smythe wrote, did not have the time or the desire to give him adequate defense and he wanted the court to appoint new counsel.

Taken Under Advisement

Mr. Laughlin said Smythe wanted him to file motions he did not approve and said he thought it would be better if another lawyer were appointed.

Smythe suggested either Albert W. Dilling and P. Bateman Ennis. Both told the court they could not take on the additional burden and do their best for their present clients in the trial.

COMPLAINT BY ELMHURST CHARGES 'SABOTAGING' OF HIS DEFENSES

WASHINGTON,— No cause of action against O. John Rogge and Joseph W. Burns, Justice Department prosecutors in the sedition case, was shown in a complaint filed by Ernest F. Elmhurst, one of the 29 defendants, asking damages of $100,000 from the Government attorneys and his former counsel, Ira Chase Koehne, for assertedly conspiring to "sabotage" his defense, Justice James W.. Morris of District Court has ruled.

Justice Morris, however, studied other legal questions raised in a preliminary argument over the suit, and James J. Laughlin, attorney for Elmhurst in this particular proceeding, was granted 15 days to amend the complaint.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Rec'd your note—also the $10.00. Many, many thanks. I guess you know nearly as much about happenings here as I do. The unexpected continues to happen. Heard you published Klein's talk.

Calls for Deposition From Roosevelt

CLAIMS PRESIDENT MADE AGREEMENT WITH CHURCHILL TO INVOLVE U. S. IN WAR

WASHINGTON,— A deposition from President Roosevelt in the mass sedition trial was asked by one of the 29 defendants in a motion filed in District Court.

Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher was requested to authorize the deposition, "at the expense of the United States," in behalf of Robert Noble of Los Angeles, one of the organizers of the Friends of Progress and once a candidate for Governor of California.

In lieu of the deposition, the defendant asked that the President be summoned as a witness.

The motion, sworn to by Noble and filed by his attorney, James J. Laughlin, urged that the deposition be taken " as speedily as possible, before President Roosevelt becomes absorbed in his quest for a fourth term, which political activity will consume all of his time."

1940 Statement Quoted

Noble said the prosecution against him was not brought in good faith, but was directed by the President because the defendant "questioned the foreign policies of President Roosevelt and particularly criticized Candidate Roosevelt in 1940 for making the statement, 'I tell you again and again and again that your boys will not be sent to die on a foreign shore'."

Noble admitted he labeled Mr. Roosevelt "as the greatest fraud and the greatest imposter that ever lived." At the time, the defendant alleged, the President's "words and promises were meaningless".

The defendant said he wanted to show by the deposition that the President had made a secret agreement with Prime Minister Churchill at the time the President was campaigning for a third term, and that this pact pledged the United States to enter the war to preserve the British Empire.

The sedition prosecution, said the motion, was directed to "wreck vengeance" on the defendant and others for criticizing the President and the New Deal.

L. A. EX-BUNDIST TELLS OF PLOT TO RULE U. S.

WASHINGTON,—Roy F. Arnold, Los Angeles optical technician and former member of the German American bund, testified at the mass sedition trial that a strike of produce farmers around New York was to have been the signal for the bund's abortive plans to stage a "putsch" and install its own "strong man" in America.

Arnold, who joined the bund as a result of his friendship with Hans Diebel, one of 29 defendants in the trial, said Diebel told him of the signal for the uprising after he made "repeated" requests.

Earlier he had testified that two other defendants in the trial— evangelist Gerald P. Winrod and Silver Shirt organizer William Dudley Pelley— were the bund's candidates for the role of "strong man" in this country.

Arnold told the jury Diebel said he intended to "get himself five Jews before he was stopped" if the planned putsch became "too hot".

The Power of Love

God is Love. Love is the Creator and Man is God's offspring.

These are simple truths. Thus man has all the qualities, faculties, powers of the Creator.

Recently in our "victory prayer", I called attention, by using black faced type, to the words: " . . . and my heart fixed by the burning fire of love . . . "

This is why we are fire worshippers. Love is the fire that consumes everything in its path. So many have written me to cut out "Mazdaism" in The Broom, and enjoy a larger circulation. Well, we won't.

Only those who learn to love have Life Eternal, for God is Love and to love all Creation as He loves us, that is Life Eternal. Since words have power, naturally we use the most powerful word when speaking of God: MAZDA, the Master. There is nothing more powerful than to master and this we must learn since as God's offspring we inherit all His creation.

You must have noticed the recklessness with which I introduced Marion Fay into the columns of The Broom. This girl proclaims Love and conducts a Love Cult. That is how she caught my attention. Now I am most happy to love everybody, to learn this all of us have incarnated upon this planet. If we refuse to love everybody then we must fight everybody, and the U. S. A. has sentenced itself to the latter course. We are supplying the whole world for war today and are spending billions which we refused to spend to help the whole world. Do you see the LAW now?

We are to master life and as masters on this planet we are God's executives. Since we refuse to accept the task constructively, we are getting at it forcibly, destructively, by regimentation and conscription, by confiscation and bondage to debt.

Thus I revealed to you the Secret of the World War. It shows how much infinite energy we have, how much we can produce and give away.

Marion Fay is an example of a person who is caught in the middle between the divine urge and material, beastly ignorance and cowardice. Spiritually awake enough to realize the power of Love and the nature of the Creator.

Mentally and Physically controlled by animal magnetism of the belly and fear of poverty, thus rationalizes herself that God wants all this Murder Business and inspires Roosevelt.

Everyone of you is "Marion Fay" where your soul longs for the Beauties of God. And everyone of you is "Marion Fay" who submits your spirit to be ravaged for the sake of the belly by imagining that War must be and that we must pray to God to make it successful.

Marion Fay contacted me in the Name of the Christ, but was afraid that, because I oppose War and stand for Peace, the Newdeal gang would ruin her business if she continued keeping company with me. Now I cannot afford to be afraid because we are God's executives, and have to obey and be about our Father's business. So, naturally, I stated the case in public.

You see, this is not private affair. Marion, like every Church and Minister, is bound by the Principle she preaches. Since she dared me, I called her bluff. I can take it.

Thus, as the U. S. A., so Marion. Spiritually, we give lip service to Love of Ideals, practically, we serve Mammon, violence and have no Faith in the all-pervading Power of Love.

When a people come out openly and proclaim that they are the Chosen of God, then they have chosen God. If they do not keep faith but persecute the children of God, what happens?

Matthew 27:25.—"And all the people answered and said, His blood BE on us, and on our children."

And has it not been so?

It is evident to every thinker that we cannot evade our duties. We have come to earth to execute the Plan of the Creator. There is no limit to the Paradise we are to produce: John 14:12.— " . . .He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater WORKS than these shall he do also; . . . "

You can see plainly what great job the chosen People accepted. But because they are not Peace-Makers, they are revealing to all nations the driving power they have as War-Makers: Love in reverse.
